

1. Lecture Discussion on ‘European Union as a Security Actor’ by Ambassador João Cravinho, Ambassador of the European Union on Wednesday 13 August 2014.

Ambassador Cravinho gave a talk on the European Union as a Security Actor. He argued that Europe’s biggest success was to emerge as an example of stability, cooperation and integration after the Second World War. He underlined the relevance of non-military instruments of security. Security in the European Union is ensured through their deep integration but the process of responding to security challenges around the world would need other instruments.
